'The Music Man'

This year's musical "The Music Man" will mark an anniversary of 10 shows that have been staged in the new high school (nine of these have been Broadway musicals). However, these productions have only carried on a tradition of long standing that had its beginnings when Miss Ruth Perry staged "The Windmills of Holland" in 1926.

This year will mark 40 years of Agawam Shows and the "Music Man" program will provide several pages to this Agawam tradition. Included will be a listing of the many shows that were staged by Miss Perry during her 20 years as supervisor of music in Agawam. These were followed by two productions under the direction of Mrs. Virginia (Clark) Coffin and a number directed by Miss Mary Hayes. It would be hard to estimate the number of students that have taken part in these shows with the current productions involving over 300 students. It is estimated that well over 2000 students during the last 10 years have taken part in an Agawam High Musical.

Miss Perry is still an Agawam resident and has kept in close touch with the local music scene. Some of her thoughts with regard to the early shows are included in this year's program which will be sold at all performances.

Also in keeping with the 10 year anniversary will be a section of program devoted to the shows during this period and a special record that will include several selections from each of the last 10 musicals.

A special highlight of this year's "Music Man" will be the final scene in which the Agawam High Band will take part in full force (with the exception of about 30 members who have other parts in the production). They will help bring the curtain down with the strains of "76 Trombones." During the 882 performances of "Music Man" on Broadway, the electric hold of this song elicited some 2700 encores. Audiences never seem to get enough of this stirring selection which is first introduced when Robert Osolinski (as Harold Hill) tries to sell the citizens of River City on the value of having a band in town.

Special settings for Agawam's "Music Man" have been devised by Robert who has had a major part in the last three musicals as well as helping in the designing and painting the scenery. These include two major units which provide for a balcony, 7 feet by 12 feet long, that is used in the colorful "Library" scene, then separated to provide elevated backdrops for several scenes. They also provide for the two "porch" scenes and serve as units upon which additional panels can be hung.

TODAY'S AGRI-FACT

Nat Tilden reports that although snow is still on the ground in the Pioneer Valley, warm days have started the sap running. Maple syrup processors are hard at work—a sure sign of spring. Even with modern techniques in sugaring, it still takes 30 to 40 gallons of sap to yield one gallon of syrup.

Hansel-Gretel Nursery Register For Fall

The Hansel and Gretel Nursery has been operating for the past five years for children ages of three to five, every morning between 9 to 12 noon.

"Supervised Play" for pre-school age children must be a supplement not a substitute for home. It is an activity where children learn to get along with others, especially designed to allow children to be noisy, active, and creative. The ultimate goal is to help each youngster grow into an individual who will be responsible for his actions and willing to accept the consequences of his own behavior.

Flexibility of program is evident in that no two days are alike. New equipment and toys are introduced when needed to stimulate further play. Children are encouraged to choose their own play activities. Stories, music and some dramatic play may be initiated by the teacher, but participation is voluntary. Indoor and outdoor play are included in the daily schedule, one hour a day is spent outdoors, weather permitting.

Those who wish to register for the 1966-'67 term may contact Mrs. Margaret Stapleton, RE 7-2383.

SPORTSMEN'S CORNER

By Bill Chiba

Mr. Frank Maziarz, chairman of the 47th Annual Banquet Committee of the Agawam Sportsmen Club, announces that the affair will be held April 5 at the clubhouse on Cory St., Agawam. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m. with Mr. Frank Sutula, police chief of Suffield, Conn., catering the dinner. Yes, you guessed it... Steak is the menu—family style. The ducats will go for $5 per. The tickets can be obtained at the clubhouse until March 31.

The following members are assisting Frank Maziarz: tickets, Dick Schuhlen, Jim King, Roland Reed, Bud Roberts and Bob Simpson. Prizes, Jim Devine, John Pavelczek, Bud Otto and Chick Basile. Public Relations will be handled by Bob McCann.

We recently attended a similar dinner put on by Frank Sutula, and the steak was out of this world. If you enjoy eating good food, don't miss this affair.

Tops Ten-Year Average

Final figures released by the New Hampshire Fish and Game Department reveal that hunters harvested 9697 deer during the 1965 season—the highest kill reported since 1958. This exceeds the 1964 kill by 28 per cent and is 9 per cent higher than the average for the past 10 years. Licensed residents took 6975 deer, while resident minors killed 283, nonresident hunters bagged 2421.

All-time record kills were reported from two counties—2468 from Grafton and 1510 from Carroll. In Coos County the kill was 2225, the second highest in its history.

The picture was not so bright, however, in most southern counties where kills were below average. Hillsboro County's kill slumped to 523, the lowest recorded since 1944. This is where Stan Berchulski, Doc Blanchard, Larry Fountain and I put in most of our time in New Hampshire. We were very unsuccessful and saw very few deer the length of time we spent in the woods.

The Reasons

According to game biologist David L. White, there were two major reasons for the increased kill. First, two extremely easy winters in succession were responsible for the pronounced herd increases in northern New Hampshire. Second, excellent hunting conditions on snow persisted throughout most of the season in the general region where the deer population was highest.

George Gill, who resides at 775 Springfield St., Feeding Hills, bagged his deer (a nice doe) in a very unusual way. He knocked it over with a 357 magnum revolver. This is the first time George used the revolver, and is very proud of the accomplishment. We take our hat off (with the chance of catching pneumonia) to George for his feat.

Mass. Fishing Records Fall

Five Bay State fishing records and two records tied during 1965 by anglers who reported catches to the Division of Fisheries and Game's freshwater sport fish awards program.

Record breakers included a seven-pound four-ounce rainbow trout—Quabbin Reservoir—by Bert Valcourt of Chicopee Falls; an eight-pound eight-ounce walleye—Quabbin Reservoir—by Joseph Schwartz of Holden; an 11¼-inch bluegill caught by Robert Barret of Stoughton from Bog Pond, Norton; an 18-inch calico bass caught by George Olson of Lowell in the Merrimack River; and a 16¼-inch white perch taken from Halfway Pond, Plymouth, by Richard Rock of Kingston.

These fishermen will shortly receive gold pins and wall plaques in the mail.

Two wild turkey gobblers were released in southern Plymouth County by the Division of Fisheries and Game. The birds were the initial contingent in what is hopefully a series of such shipments from West Virginia in exchange for a number of raccoons sent to the state by the fish and game division recently.

As the last seconds ticked away, the faculty continued to throw the ball into their basket to beat the seniors by eight points. The proceeds of the Senior-Faculty tilt, ending with a score of 38-30, will be given to a worthy senior as a scholarship. The faculty team, consisting of Mr. Sheehan, Mr. Dudek, Mr. Mazza and Mr. Burke was coached by Mr. Altobelli. On the senior team were Rick Progulske, Dale Roberts, Ken Affleck and Jerry Cleary to name a few. Sam Provo and Bob Leger, members of the varsity team, were the senior coaches.

During halftime the senior and junior girls entertained the audience by participating in a tug-of-war. Each of the three junior teams out-pulled the seniors.

The cheering section for the faculty were freshmen girls, while the senior and sophomore girls cheered for the seniors.

This game showed a feeling of spirit and friendliness between the teachers and students at Agawam High.

TRUE RICHES

An old superannuated minister had unwittingly told of his wealth and fortune, and the fame of his possessions got to the ears of the county tax assessor. One day the government's representative came to his door to press him for a statement of his wealth.

"Is it so," began the assessor, "that you have capital?"

"Yes," said the preacher, "I am a rich man."

"In that case," said the visitor interestedly, pulling out his book, "I shall have to assess you. What are your possessions?"

"I am enjoying good health," said the man, "and health is worth very much."

"Well," said the caller, "what more have you?"

"I have a good wife—worth more than diamonds."

"Congratulations," exclaimed the tax man, "but don't you own more?"

"Yes, I have healthy, intelligent, upright sons and daughters, and that is a possession of which any man can feel rich."

"Do you own anything else?" asked the inquirer.

"Yes, I own citizenship in the United States, and an assured inheritance in Heaven. What more could a man own?"

"But don't you own any money or real estate?"

"No, otherwise I own nothing," said the man happily.

"My friend," said the assessor, as he closed his book, "you are indeed a rich man, and your riches no man can take away—not even the government."

A. No. If you start your widow's payment at 60, your benefit will be reduced. The amount of your reduction is 5/9 of one percent or a total of 13.4 percent reduction if you start your widow's payment at 60.

If I start my widow's payments at 60, will I still be able to start receiving a full benefit on my own account at 65?

A. No. The amount you receive will be reduced.

An Anchor To Windward

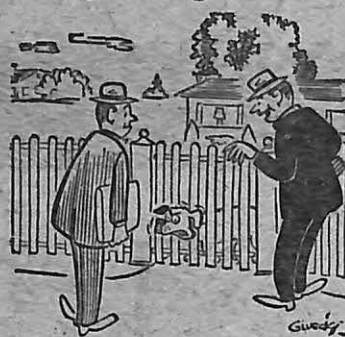

The American Medical Association is encouraging the voluntary health insurance industry not to cancel contracts covering people over 65 once medicare goes into effect next July 1—but to continue offering improved contracts to those in that age category.

This is an important and needed activity. And the older people should understand that in many, perhaps most, cases, voluntary insurance of one kind or another provides protections and services that should not be relinquished.

It is an unfortunate fact that many of these people seem to believe that medicare will pay the bills for any medical problems that may confront them. It doesn't. Coverage is limited and in some areas there is confusion as to just what it will and will not do. Moreover, there are portions of the bill that many authorities think will lead to deterioration in the quality of medical care and disturb the all-important doctor-patient relationship. Experience may very well force repeal or major changes in these portions. And, of no small moment, no one knows what medicare will really cost and whether or not taxes and levies thus far authorized to pay for it will be adequate.

The Times-Record, of Spencer, West Virginia, sums up the point clearly: "...we offer this reminder to all our elderly friends and neighbors—hold on to what you've got until that bill actually goes into effect, and then make sure you'll have what you need." Long before anyone thought of such a law as medicare a splendid system of voluntary health insurance came into being, and it has grown dramatically. It should not be abandoned out of hand by those over 65.

Fancy-Dress Fire

Adams, Mass.

It was the fanciest fire ever for members of the Volunteer Alert Hose Company.

They were called to a fire just as they assembled in their best uniforms for their 90th annual ball. The fire turned out to be a minor one, but it was smoky.

When it was out, the men returned to the ball. But first they changed out of their fancy uniforms.

The American housewife today has a choice of 8000 food items.
